Welcome to NxT Horizon magazine, the voice of minority business. Our first anniversary edition is about to hit the shelf. Over the past year we have been pleased to work with some great new partners including the Arizona Minority Business Enterprise Center, Arizona State University at the downtown Phoenix campus, the Global Institute of Sustainability at

Arizona State Tempe and the City of Phoenix Equal Opportunity Department. We were also pleased to be a founder of the highly successful Jazz Lecture and Happy Hour at the Herberger series with ASU and the Phoenix Brain Team. 2007 was a year of triumph for us but also a year of great tragedy. Over all however, great things happened. Come and enjoy them with us.

NxT Event Calendar:

March 2008 NxT Horizon magazine The Green Recession Survival Edition

Though the powers that be might disagree, for most of us the current economic conditions feel like a recession and it hurts. The price of oil is skyrocketing causing the price of everything else to follow. There is hope however. There are ways to survive a recession like this one and be ready to prosper afterwards. There is a light at the end of the tunnel and in this case the light is green. In this upcoming edition of NxT Horizon magazine we begin our year long focus on recession survival strategies with a look at how to use Green to save you money at home and in your business.

The NxT Lecture and Podcast series

Theme: Green Survival: Using Green To Survive The Recession

Date: May 22, 2008
Time: 7:30 am to 9:00 am
Location: Tom's Tavern 1st AVE and Washington Downtown
Presenter: Angela Brooks, Life Strategies Consulting
